A college or university can set up a facebook page in order to attract new student or to keep current students and faculty members aware of what's going on with the school. Students can find out information about their school or a professor for one of their courses. Look at the next figure on the following page.

The screenshot shows a Facebook page for 'CUNY John Jay'. The page header includes the Facebook logo, a search bar, and a 'Like' button. Below the header, there is a profile picture placeholder (a graduation cap) and a description: 'Our goal is to make this Community Page the best collection of shared knowledge on this topic. If you have a passion for CUNY John Jay, sign up and we'll let you know when we're ready for your help. You can also get us started by suggesting a relevant Wikipedia article or the Official Site.' The page also features a '765 People Like This' section with profile pictures of users like Jeet Saini, Greg Conlon, Kevin Vargas, Abe Aguilar, Reel Works, and Moe Ahmed. A post from 'Travel4School / CUNY John Jay College Criminal Justice' is visible, mentioning a festival at the Delta Halifax. The page footer includes a 'Source' section and a disclaimer: 'Community Pages are not affiliated with, or endorsed by, anyone associated with the topic.'

Description

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The John Jay College of Criminal Justice is a senior college of the City University of New York in Midtown Manhattan, New York City and is the only liberal arts college with a criminal justice focus in the United States. It has about 14,000 FTE (full-time equivalent) students, including traditional, pre-career undergraduate students and those pursuing master's degrees in several disciplines. John Jay College of Criminal Justice was founded in 1964 and was originally called the College of Police Science (COPS). Classes were held at the Police Academy on East 20th Street. Eventually, the school was expanded to incorporate many liberal arts disciplines and was renamed John Jay College of Criminal Justice.

It moved to its current location in the former Charles B. J. Snyder-designed De Witt Clinton High School in 1988. After Clinton moved to the Bronx the building became Haaren High School. The building is now Haaren Hall on the campus.

It offers criminal justice education and research. It is a training facility for local, state, and federal law enforcement personnel. The college has invited speakers such as Janet Reno and Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg. John Jay is one of only a handful of public colleges with two Pulitzer Prize winners (Mike Wallace and John Matteson) on its faculty.

You can also use facebook to keep in touch with friends and family as well.

The screenshot shows the Facebook News Feed interface. At the top, there is a blue navigation bar with the Facebook logo, a search bar, and navigation icons. Below the navigation bar, the left sidebar contains a user profile for Eugene Fontanez, a 'News Feed' section with links to Messages, Events, and Friends, and a 'Friends Online' list including Cesarina Valdez Ba..., Jen Topf Loayza, Jennifer Schneider..., Kathryn M Chu, and Luis Valle. The main content area displays a post from supportstore.us titled 'Flags For The Fallen. Never Forget . . .'. The post features a photo of many American flags and includes a comment from Cara Wittchow expressing pride in her military family. The post has 14 likes and a comment box at the bottom.

This screenshot shows a vertical scroll of three posts in a Facebook News Feed. The first post is from Nena Stillwell, who shares a message of support and prayers. The second post is from Carlos Du Que, announcing a new friendship with MoniQue Guidry and Catherine Henry. The third post is from Kimberly Douglas-Herman, sharing a personal experience from a Grammy event. Each post includes a profile picture, the user's name, the text of the post, and interaction options like 'Like' and 'Comment'. A comment box is visible at the bottom of the third post.

You can chat via im, email, or posting on someone's wall just like in the next figure.

Another thing that you can do is post videos onto your profile some examples are in the next few pictures.
